features two of the music world's most innovative Latin percussionists—Giovanni Hidalgo and Horacio "El Negro" Hernandez—performing music from their debut CD Traveling Through Time. Prepare to experience some of the most incredible footage of drumset and congas ever filmed.

Interspersed within the stunning performances are educational segments where the two masters explain how they conceived each duet, how they approach their individual parts, and how they approach their improvisations within each piece, giving you never-before-seen insight into both their technical and musical applications.

The program also features two incredible solo improvisations by each player plus an extraordinary presentation by Gio of his approach to conga technique and applying the rudiments and how he incorporates these techniques into his playing.

Gio and Negro present a world of material in a casual, friendly, and informative setting that will leave you with a wealth of valuable practice material and musical inspiration.
